This journal is intended for personal reflection, daily self-tracking, and self-care during the postpartum period. It is NOT a substitute for medical care. Always consult your obstetrician, midwife, pediatrician, or licensed mental health provider for medical concerns.

If you experience thoughts of harming yourself or your baby, severe bleeding, fever, chest pain, or other warning signs listed in this journal, contact your provider or call 911 / 988 (Suicide & Crisis Lifeline) immediately.

Welcome, Mama

The first 12 weeks after birth are sometimes called the fourth trimester. Your body is healing, your hormones are recalibrating, and you are getting to know a tiny new human while also getting to know yourself again.

This journal is your daily companion for that season. Each page invites you to slow down for two minutes a day and notice three things: how YOU are feeling, how baby is doing, and one tiny win.

There are no rules. Skip days. Write a single word. Use a sticker. The point is not a perfect journal - it is gentle, repeated attention to your own recovery.

Inside you will find:

- 84 daily check-in pages (12 full weeks)
- 12 weekly reflections to spot patterns
- Postpartum warning signs - know when to call
- 6-week and 12-week milestone reviews
- Provider contact directory
- Self-care prompt pages

You are doing better than you think.

How to Use This Journal

1. Pick a daily anchor.
Tie your check-in to a feed, nap, or coffee. Two minutes is enough.

2. Track baby and YOU.
The left side covers feeds, sleep, diapers. The right side is just for you.

3. Skip without guilt.
A blank page is data too. It often shows the hardest days.

4. Use the weekly review.
Every 7 days, look back. Patterns reveal themselves quickly.

5. Bring it to appointments.
Trends in mood, bleeding, and sleep help your provider help you.

6. Watch the warning signs.
If anything on page 8 fits you, please call your provider TODAY.

Postpartum Warning Signs

If you notice ANY of the following, contact your obstetrician, midwife, or call 911. These can be signs of postpartum hemorrhage, infection, preeclampsia, blood clots, or postpartum mood disorders.

Physical - call your provider today

- Heavy bleeding (soaking a pad in under an hour)
- Passing a clot larger than a golf ball
- Fever above 100.4 F (38 C)
- Severe headache that does not improve with rest
- Vision changes, flashing lights, or blurriness
- Chest pain or shortness of breath
- Calf pain, redness, or swelling in one leg
- Incision (C-section or perineal) red, hot, oozing
- Severe pain in your belly

Emotional - call your provider or 988

- Thoughts of harming yourself or your baby
- Feeling disconnected from your baby for over 2 weeks
- Crying most of the day, every day, after week 2
- Severe anxiety or panic that prevents sleep
- Hearing or seeing things that are not there
- Feeling unable to care for yourself or baby

5-Minute Self-Care Menu

When the day feels long and you are touched out, pick ONE. None of these require leaving your baby or the couch.

- ☐ Splash cold water on your face
- ☐ Drink a tall glass of water with ice
- ☐ Step outside for 5 deep breaths
- ☐ Text one friend the truth about today
- ☐ Change into a clean shirt
- ☐ Eat a piece of fruit
- ☐ Stretch your shoulders and neck
- ☐ Brush your teeth or rinse with mouthwash
- ☐ Put on lotion that smells nice
- ☐ Open a window for fresh air
- ☐ Listen to one favorite song
- ☐ Cry it out for 3 minutes, set a timer
- ☐ Walk to the mailbox and back
- ☐ Hold a warm mug, no agenda
- ☐ Look at one photo that makes you smile
- ☐ Say one kind thing to yourself out loud

ONE PROMISE TO MYSELF FOR NEXT WEEK

12-Week Milestone

End of the fourth trimester

HOW IS MY BODY DIFFERENT FROM WEEK 0?

HOW IS MY MOOD DIFFERENT FROM WEEK 0?

WHAT SURPRISED ME MOST IN THIS STRETCH?

WHAT AM I PROUD OF?

WHAT NEEDS TO CHANGE FOR THE WEEKS AHEAD?

WHO HAS SHOWN UP FOR ME? HOW CAN I THANK THEM?

WHAT CONVERSATION DO I NEED TO HAVE WITH MY PROVIDER?

For My Partner / Support Person

If you are reading this, the new mom in your life trusts you. Here is what actually helps in the postpartum window.

Watch for warning signs.
Re-read the warning signs page weekly. Trust changes you see.

Take a feed or bottle once a day.
Even one feed gives mom a 2-3 hour sleep block. That is medicine.

Bring water and snacks every 2 hours.
Especially while breastfeeding. Do not ask, just bring.

Handle one full daily task.
Dishes, laundry, or cooking. Pick one and own it for 12 weeks.

Field visitors.
Limit guests, run interference, protect rest.

Listen without fixing.
Ask: do you want comfort, advice, or quiet? Then deliver that.

Notice mood patterns.
Two weeks of crying, withdrawal, or rage = call her provider with her.

12 Weeks Done

You showed up, even when it was hard.

WHAT AM I MOST PROUD OF?

WHAT DO I WANT MY BABY TO KNOW ABOUT THESE 12 WEEKS?

WHAT DO I WANT TO REMEMBER NEXT TIME THE WORLD FEELS HEAVY?

WHO DO I OWE A THANK-YOU NOTE?

WHAT IS MY NEXT CHAPTER, BEYOND RECOVERY?
